COUNTY OFFICIALS MADE A BIG HAUL OF MOONSHINE

County Detective Allison, Chief Solt, Officer Fairbanks and State Police Visit Alleged Hooch Makers with good Results.

Two 10- gallon stills. One 20- gallon still. Two barrels of mash, 150 gallons of mash. Five gallons of moonshine. 4 gallons of raisin jack. One gallon and two quarts of whiskey. Two and one-half crate of quart bottles.

No, he above is not an invoice from a dry-goods merchant. It's a list of contraband which a raiding party confiscated yesterday after visiting six alleged moonshine establishments in McKean county.

In addition to the confiscated wet goods and appliances, the raiding party took along Charles Gibbs, Andy Skok and Mike Navasol who are in the county bastile at Smethport awaiting to be brought here today and appear before Alderman Fogle to answer charges of bootlegging.

The raids are the result of the work of local police. Last Tuesday of John Hill on a warrant charging the larceny of a sum from Frank Ogden. Hill became very talkative after spending a few hours in the cell block at headquarters here and told alleged a pretty romance in which Mrs. Hills, Frank Ogden, the three prisoners taken yesterday and several others figure prominently.

Following the disclosure made by Hills, County Detective J. M. Allison yesterday morning began making a tour of the county investigating the several places Hills had mentioned in his palaver. With the county detective went Chief of Police Solt, Officer Fairbanks, Chief Fowler of Kane and State Troopers Nohick, Wolfskill, Sanderson and Camwell. Six places were visited by the party yesterday and several others will be seen today.

The first stop was made at the Charles Gibbs farm near Ludlow on the Kinzua-Ludlow road. About a mile from the farm house, the raiders found a neat little hut built by Gibbs with young sapplings near a riverlet and among large trees which gave the bootlegging plant the appearance of a lovers' trysting place. In the hut were found two 10-gallon stills complete in every detail, 150 gallons of mash, one gallon of the finished product and two and one-half crates of quart bottles. In the farm house the officers found Gibbs and two quarts of fire water.

Andy Skok was found at his camp in the woods about one mile from the Kane-Kinzua road on an old railroad right of way. Here the raiders took Andy, five gallons of moonshine and three gallons of raisin jack.

News of their visit preceded the officers to the Mike Navasol place about three miles from Kane on the Hyland road. When the party arrived on the scene, what is believed to have been a large still was found dismantled and otherwise camouflaged to resemble household utensils. Two barrels of mash and one barrel of raisin jack were found, however, and Mike was taken along.

At the time The Era went to press this morning, two other places where the raiding party had called late last night had not yet been heard from.—Era May 25.

FRANK SARTWELL DIES SATURDAY IN ERIE

The many friends of Frank Sartwell were shocked to hear of his sudden death Saturday evening about 10:30 o'clock at the home of his daughter Mrs. F. C. March, of Erie, who has seriously ill in St. Vincents hospital, having just passed through a dangerous operation.

Mr. Sartwell has not been in the best of health for the past six or eight months, having suffered considerably with neuritis, but the day of his death he had been as well as usual, and in the evening, he and his son-in-law, Mr. March had walked down town. On their return Mr. Sartwell remarked that he was tired and would go to his room and lie down a little while, and then come back and read. When he did not return Mr. March went to his room, and found he had passed away. His daughter Mrs. March is still ill to be informed with the news of her father's death, and his body will be kept in a vault until she is able to see him.

Frank Sartwell was born in Smethport September 28, 1860, the son of Roswell and Mary Sartwell, pioneer residents of the town. In May 1892, he was married to Clara Thurman, who died several years ago. To them was born one daughter, Margaret Sartwell March, of Erie, who now survives him.

Mr. Sartwell was a member of the Episcopal church of this place, and an exempt fireman. He was a plumber by trade, and was a capable worker and good citizen. He will be greatly missed in the town.

DEATH OF MRS. EMMA J. MOSIER

Mrs. Emma J. Mosier died May 24th at the home of her daughter, Mrs. James Bray of Farmers Valley. She had not been feeling well for about two months, but was not confined to her bed until about three weeks before her death, which was due to heart trouble, and a stroke which a week previous to her death paralyzed her right side.

Mrs. Mosier's maiden name was Chaffee, she was born at Cornwall Bridge, Connecticute, May 2, 1853, and moved to McKean county when about 16 years of age. She was married about 50 years ago to John C. Mosier who preceded her to the great beyond, February 3, 1910.

She is survived by three children, Mrs. I. A. Stone, SanPedro, California, R. A Mosier, Coryville, Pa., and Mrs. James Bray of Farmers Valley. One daughter Maud Mosier is deceased.

Mrs. Mosier was a splendid christian woman, devoted to her family and her friends. She leaves behind her a fine record of a useful life, and will be greatly missed.

The funeral was held Sunday at 1:30 p. m. at the United Brethren church at Farmers Valley, Rev A. L. Pang, officiating. Interment was in Smith's cemetery Farmers Valley.

CARS COLLIDE FRIDAY.

Friday afternoon about 6:30 as Frank Masters was returning from Farmers Valley with his Ford car, a Reo car driven by C. A. Day of Bradford came from behind a Chevrolet car that had been parked on the right hand side of the road in front of Alfred Johnson's house, headed towards the Valley and collided with the Masters car, after the accident the Day car ran partly up the terrace onto the Johnson lawn.

The Reo car was not damaged, the Ford had a fender bent, and hub cap knocked off and wish bone bent. No one was hurt in either car.

HEAD ON COLLISION AT KEYSTONE.

A bad accident occurred Saturday evening about 9:00 o'clock at Keystone, when a Ford car driven by Oscar Anderson of Betula and another car came together in a headon collision. Mabel Friedley, who with Bessie Smith and Anderson occupied the Ford, and Miss Kinney who was in the other car, were both thrown through the wind shield. Miss Friedley was badly cut on the face, and Miss Kinney's face was badly bruised. Dr. Burg Chadwick is caring for both patients.

Andersons car had one wheel torn off and a mud guard broken.

CAR SMASHED UP.

Clarence Parks, son of A. A. Parks of Bradford, who owns an oil lease near Bordell, had his Reo car badly damaged Saturday evening near the Brooder farm on the Bradford road when another car side swiped him and then proceeded on its way without stopping to see the damage it had done.

Two wheels of the car were torn off, and it was badly wrecked. Mr. Parks was not injured.

MARSHALL-NORMAN.

Ethel Marshall of Lancaster, O., and Seth Norman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Norman of this place were married May 21st, at 8:00 o'clock at the parsonage, Rev. White of Lancaster officiating.

The bride wore a blue suit and hat to match.

Miss Marshall was formerly telephone operator in her home town, and is an attractive and popular young lady.

Mr. Norman is borough electrician, and is a capable and industrious young man.

Following the ceremonies, the young couple motored to Wilkinsburg, where they spent the week. Mr. Norman returned Monday and Mrs. Norman who is visiting relatives will arrive here in the near future.

They will live in the upper rooms of the new bungalow recently erected by Ed. Norman on Water street. The Miner extends its congratulations.

DR. AND MRS. CHADWICK SAIL FOR BERMUDA AND VISIT AT WASHINGTON.

Dr. and Mrs. Burg Chadwick will leave on Sunday, June 3 for Washington, D. C., enroute to Bermuda, where they will make a visit. They expect to pass about three days in Washington with their son, Dr. F. N. Chadwick, and then will go to New York where they sail for Bermuda. They will leave on the return home trip on June 16th. They plan to attend the Shrine convention to be held in Washington and to visit with their son, who has procured seats for them for the big parade on Monday morning, which will be a regular big blowout.

They have also been invited as guests of Dr. Barton on his launch on the night of the river carnival. Dr. Lade will make arrangements for transportation to and from the boat club. The famous Dr. Banting who is responsible for the new "insulin" treatment of diabetes, will be in New York City and give several clinics to which Dr. and Mrs. Chadwick and their son will be invited.

MRS CALLAR EXPIRED AT HER HOME TUESDAY.

Mrs. Orpha Gallup Callar, 79 years of age, died Tuesday at her home in Dennisville, N. J., after suffering a severe stroke of apoplexy. Mrs. Callar has been in delicate health for three years. But had been active until a few days before her death. With her at the time of death were members of her family.

The body was brought to Randolph yesterday accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Alexander. The funeral will be conducted this afternoon from the home of Mrs. Alexander at 2 o'clock. Rev. T. H. Delbridge will be in charge of the services. Interment in Randolph cemetery.

Mrs. Callar was daughter of Jabez and Theodore Brown Gallup; she was born January 21, 1844, at Norwich, Pennsylvania. She married William Thomas Callar, who died August 29, 1921. She resided at Smethport, Pa., and in that vicinity until 1885 when she came to Randolph and remained until 1907. She then went to Virginia and later removed to Dennisville, New Jersey.

Surviving members of the family are Mrs. William L. Alexander and Miss Eva Gallup Callar; a son Amprose, died in infancy.—Randolph Register, May 16.

A. P. HUEY DIES.

Popular and Able Lawyer Formerly of Bradford, Dead in Kane After Long Illness.

Andrew P. Huey, an attorney, formerly of Bradford, died at his home, 229 Greeves, street, Kane, Kane, Pa., on Friday after an illness of several months. The deceased was one of the best known lawyers of Northern Pennsylvania and in Bradford, was a partner of the late H. H. North. Prior to that time he was a resident of Rixford, Pa., and practiced his profesion there.

The deceased was born in Huntington, Pa., March 25, 1853. He was a graduate of Lafayette college. As a lawyer he was able and conscientious, and as a citizen and neighbor possessed most excellent qualities. He had many friends.—Sunday Herald, May 27.

CONOPUS CLUB MEETS; DISCUSS SWIMMING POOL

At the dinner held by the Conopus Club Monday at the Wright house, 18 members were present. J. L. Morrison, chairman of the welfare committee, who have had charge of the swimming pool project, reported that the site might be secured free of charge, from the Water Company. The location deemed best for the pool is about one mile west of town where Blacksmith Brook crosses the Main road. The engineer who viewed the site with the committee recommended the removal of about 500 cubic yards of earth at an approximate cost of 50c per yard. It was also recommended that a cement dam be put in and $700 be raised for the project.

A fuller report of the matter will be made next week.

The Pennsylvania crossing at East Smethport was reported as a dangerous one where either a bell or flagman was necessary. A. C. Douglass was appointed to look after this matter.

The prize, which was given by Dr. C. R. Long was won by O. P. Orbitt.—(McKean County Miner.)

SCHOOL CHILDREN HAVE COMMUNITY DAY AT THE FAIR GROUNDS SATURDAY.

Saturday will be a day of merriment for the children of the public school of Smethport. They will pack their lunches and go down to the fair grounds with their parents in the afternoon, where a program has been arranged and each grade will help in its performance. There will be drills, races, track meets between grades until five o'clock, then they will spread their lunches on the ground and eat their evening meal under the cover of the blue sky.

Miss Schafer is head of the girl Scouts in Bradford and an enthusiastic worker among the girls.

MEMORIAL DAY OBSERVED IN SMETHPORT.

Memorial Day was appropriately observed in Smethport yesterday. The parade formed at 1:30 p. m. in front of the court house, in the following order: Smethport band, G. A. R. and speakers of the day in autos, Bucktail Post American Legion, Boy Scouts and School children from all the grades, also high school.

The line of march lay down Main to Mechanic street, then to Rose Hill Avenue, and cemetery street.

The exercises at the cemetery were carried out according to the program given in last weeks Miner, and were very impresive.

F. D. Gallup of Bradford gave an interesting address. Among the many points he brought out was one in regard to women; that they should recognize their duties as well as their privileges and should vote and pay their taxes. Many women have avoided doing this, and this called forth Mr. Gallup's remarks. He paid a tribute to the mothers of the world war veterans, saying they were the chief sufferers from the war.

His speech was clear and concise and very favorably received.

Five of the seven surviving members of the G. A. R. rode in the parade, as Emil Thamm and G. W. King were out of town.

HARTNETT-FARREN.

Blanche Hartnett of Bradford, and Ira Farren of Orchard Park, N. Y., were married here Monday, p. m. June 28th by Justice, A. W. Colegrove. They will make their home in Orchard Park, N. Y. Miss Hartnett is well known here where she taught for a number of years in the Smethport school.

ALLEGIANCE DAY TO BE HELD HERE THURSDAY JUNE 14

Program Will Be Held in Court House or on Court House Grounds as Weather Permits.

Allegiance Day will be observed in Smethport June 14 at 7:30 p. m. on the Court House lawn. If the weather be not suitable for open air exercises, the program will be held in the Court House. Everybody is invited to attend. The program will be printed in the paper next week. There will be drills by the children, addresses and music. Plan to be present and enjoy the evening and pledge allegiance to our country and our flag.

MICHAEL HERZOG DEAD.

Michael Herzog died at his home in Farmers Valley on Monday, 7:40 o'clock p. m. after an illness of several months from the results of a complication of diseases. The funeral was held at the house to-day at 2 o'clock (Thursday). Interment in Smith cemetery.

An appropriate obituary will appear next week.

FARMERS' DAY AT STATE COLLEGE ON JUNE 14th.

Party Will Probably Leave in a Big Automobile Party Wednesday Evening to be on Time.

Will have two big nights and a day at State College, during the week of June 10th. Will leave Smethport on Thursday morning in a big automobile party for the site of the state college where there will be big demonstrations of machinery, and other agricultural topics that will be of considerable interest to all concerned.

There will be good speaking on subjects of great interest to all who can take advantage of the trip and a fine program will be held at the state college on Thursday night.

In order to be at the state college for the best of the activities it will be necessary for the people to leave on the evening of the 13th as the 14th will be a busy day and one of very great and valuable opportunities.

There will be demonstrations of various farm projects and perhaps of live stock and the matter of properly handling the planting of certain crops, fertilizers, etc.

DEVOE PAINT DEMONSTRATION

On Tuesday morning Miss MacDonald, an interior decorator from the Devoe Paint Company, gave an interesting talk to the High School on the subject of "Homemaking." She also told how the company's workmen had made some old houses, which a real estate company had deemed useless, into attractive modern apartments.

In the morning and afternoon the students of the High School and eighth grade were benefitted by an interesting and instructive demonstration on renovating old floors and decorating rooms given by Miss MacDonald at Hallstrom's hardware store. Instructions were given as to how one might win the $1000 prize or small prizes offered by the Devoe company to the person with an idea which the company could use.

BABY BEARS BACK WITH MOTHER BRUIN

Kane, Pa., May 24.—The Bruin family that entertained motorists muda. Where they will leave on Sunday on the Seven Mile in the vicinity of LaMont have finally been reunited. Game authorities yesterday afternoon notified Glenn Adams and Samuel Beninger, who rescued the baby bears when their lives were endangered by a savage dog, that the cubs must be released near the spot where last seen by the mother bear. Accordingly last night the small waifs, a male and a female, were placed in a box sufficiently large to assure comfort, provided with food and water and placed in a truck belonging to H. E. Brown of this city. The animals were transported to the scene of their capture, about a mile from LaMont and the box placed upon the ground. tI was secured with a stone that was beyond the ttrength of the cub to move but easy enough for the tremendous muscles of the old bear.

The plan worked to a charm as a visit this morning to the scene disclosed unmistakable signs that the old bear had been on the job, overturned the box, opened the cover, and taken the little ones again to the maternal boson. Thus another near-tragedy in the wilds has had a most happy ending.—Star, May 24.

PREPARING FOR BIG DANCE FESTIVAL.

A number of Bradford's young people are very busy getting in readiness for a dance festival to be given on Monday evening, June 18, under the direction of their instructor, Mrs. Marion Johnson, at Shea's Bradford theatre. The festival, which is the first of its kind to be presented in Bradford, promises to be a most delightful treat. It will be given by 50 girls who are accomplished in the terpsichorean art and they are diligently rehearsing so that their performance will be far above criticism.

Mrs. Johnson has completed her arrangements for the festival, providing special scenery, special elaborate costumes, and unusual lighting effects. The regular orchestra will be augmented by a large sized musical body.

The entertainment will be given in three parts, the first to be a woodland scene, the second, national dances, including Russian, Hungarian, Scotch, Spanish and Dutch. The third part will be a children's fantasy, with the awakening of the toys, including the clown, rag doll and so on. In the third part the stage will be arranged to represent a child's playroom with the various toys here and there, and what they awake—well, that all remains to be seen.

Those who will assist in the solo and duet numbers are Betty Goodwin, Betty and Janet Stewart, Emily Hopley, Vivian Merkt, Margaret Rogerson, Emma Matthews, Marjory Hydel, Mary Ann Fagin, Katherine Bauer, Sybil McKay, Miriam Krohnson, Marjory Mallory, Ruth Gadshke, Dorothy Henretty, Katherine Healey, Sylvia Lyons, Helen Burns, Margaret Dana and Marion Haynes.

Those who will assist in the solo and duet numbers are Betty Jane Bird, Martha Dorn, Katherine Burns, Lois Husk, Patricia Johnston, Geraldine Little, Josephine Mack, Jane Paton, Janet Reichenbach, Elizabeth Adams, Gloria Sparks, Sarah Rossfield, Naomi White, Hazel Shaw, Ruth Werthman, Beatrice O'Laughlin, Marion Allen, Marie Elliott, Stella Garrigan and Marjory Nash.

Mrs. Johnson taught a large class here last year.

GIFTS ARE STOLEN WHILE NEWLY WEDS ARE AT THE CHURCH.

Harrisburg, Pa., May 21.—Returning to their home today from a nearby church where they had been married, Mr. and Mrs. Philip R. Gillespie, discovered that the house had been looted during their absence and wedding gifts valued at $5000 stolen.

A panel of glass had been removed from the front door by the robbers in gaining an entrance. They confined their attention to the wedding gifts, which included jewelry and silverware, nothing else being reported mising.

CARD OF THANKS.

We wish to thank all our friends and neighbors for their kindness shown during the recent illness, and at the time of the death of our mother.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira A. Stone.

STRIKING PRISONERS WIN AFTER THREAT TO WARBLE

Olean, May 25.—City lockup prisoners went on a strike yesterday. They demanded the removal from their society of Seth Lake, 37 years old, of Deervale, near the Pennsylvania state line, who was arrested after he came to the city for a small celebration.

The spokesman of the prisoners put it up to the police to remove the Deervale man or the other inmates would sing. Police Captain Henry French, who has been on the verge of a nervous wreck since a singing shoe repairer spent three days in the lockup, escorted Lake to the lodgers' quarters in another part of the building.

The bushel, or more, of leeks eaten by Lake before he left the fall timber made the lockup no fit place for common drunks and disorderly persons, declare the spokesman.

In Police court Judge Dennis Keating was requested by the prisoners first arraigned that Lake would not be sent to the county jail with them.

"We will go to the penitentiary to keep away from him," said they.

Lake, however, was able to pay a small fine.

NEIGHBORHOOD NEWS

NEW CAR SMASHED UP.

About 10 o'clock Wednesday evening, while they had stopped along the Cere road in their new Overland sedan, Harold and Howard Curtiss, of Indian Creek, heard a machine coming in their rear—the next they knew they were being pushed up the bank beside the road. The approaching car, a Ford runabout without lights, supposed to be from Olean, had smashed into the rear end of their machine, damaging it badly. They were unable to learn the driver's name as he appeared to be boozed up.—Eldred Eagle.

DENNIS O'NEIL'S HOME ROBBED IN BROAD DAYLIGHT.

Thieves Ransack House but Secure Pocketbook Containing Only Two Dollars.

A bold daylight robbery was committed this forenoon when a thief entered the home of Mrs. Dennis O'Neil at 27 Leland avenue, and ransacked the house, while Mrs. O'Neil was doing some work in her back yard. When Mrs. O'Neil returned to the house she found that rugs had been overturned, clothing had been searched and thrown down and drawers ransacked.

The theif did not stop at the first floor but continued on to the second where he tore beds apart and was successful in finding a purse which had been hidden beneath a mattress on one of the beds. The purse contained $2 which was taken. The purse was left.

How the unwelcome visitor got into the house unobserved cannot be imagined as neighbors were in the front part of their homes all morning and saw no one enter. The police and Patrolman Blacke made an investigation.—Era, May 24.

RUNAWAY BOY IS ILL.

Olean, May 29.—Medical examination of Stewart Gillett, 14 years old, Salamanca boy for whom authorities of the country have been searching since he ran away from home several days ago, showed the lad is a sufferer of tuberculosis. He was found asleep in the Palace theatre here Sunday night, and he told his identity yesterday. He was admitted to Rocky Crest, the Cattaraugus county tuberculosis hospital in the hills south of this city.

Young Gillett told that he stole a bicycle in Salamanca and rode it here and sold it. He stole another bicycle here and sold it, said the boy.

OPERATOR TELLS TRUTH WHEN SHE SAYS 'BUSY'

Would Rather Complete Call Than Tell Subscriber Line is in Use.

When a switchboard operator, in answer to a subscriber's call, reports "the line is busy," it naturally causes some annoyance and sometimes the calling subscriber feels that a proper effort has not been made by the operator.

A simple explanation of the work involved in completing a connection will help to disabuse anyone's mind of the fallacy that the operator can save herself any time or labor by reporting a line as busy without finding out whether it is or not.

The operator, in completing a call, uses a pair of flexible cords terminating in metal tips. One of these she inserts in an answering jack which connects her with the calling subscriber, and the other she inserts in the multiple jack of the called subscriber. But before she plugs into the multiple jack, she places the plug on the rim of the jack, which is a little metal-trimmed hole. If the line is busy, she hears a click and so reports "the line is busy."

The test takes but the fraction of a second. From the operator's viewpoint it is much more advantageous to complete a call than to be obliged to report the line busy, because in most cases the calling party will ask for the number again and continue until the call is completed, thus entailing far more work upon the operator than would have been the case had the call been completed the first time.

The way to success is to make as many friends as you can.

The man with a rich wife owes it to himself to keep right on working.

One sure way to lose your audience is to insist on telling it your troubles.

One sure way to keep the home happy is to take a little happiness into it.

Money won't buy happiness but have you ever tried doing happy without it?

Keeping everlastingly at it is all right, but usually that is what the bore does.

THREE HURT AS CAR OVERTURNED.

Olean, May 29.—Mrs. George Swarts of 312 South Barry street was severely cut in the face and Mr. Swarts and Evelyn Swarts, a daughter, were cut and bruised when their automobile was overturned at South Barry and East State streets after colliding with two other automobiles yesterday. The Swarts car, going north in Barry, collided with the car of Harrison Williams, going south in Barry, at State street, and, turning east in State street, the Swarts automobile ran into the car of W. W. Virginia, going west in State.

STATISTICAL NOTES

MEMORIAL DAY.

Decoration day originally was intended for the soldier dead of the Civil war, now it serves for all our soldier dead, no matter where they battled and fell. Because of the sacrifices that were made in the Spanish-American war and in the World war the day has taken on a larger meaning.

It is a beautiful custom that the American people should on each recurrence of the birth of this day place flowers upon the graves of the men who died for the flag—in perpetual commemoration of what the soldiers of the Civil war and those that have come after them have done for America.

These are strange times—carping times. It is the fashion in certain quarters, where there is impatience with the restraints of the established order, to denounce the government and all its works—to hold America up to scorn. On every side are heard preachments of class. The spirit among those elements of the population is to take all and give nothing. What America needs is a rebirth of faith. It wants rededication of the people. And this is the day set apart for dedication. —Buffalo News.

Printer and President.

Newspaper men have known that Mr. Harding was an editor and a highly successful one, but it remained for his visit to the New Tribune plant to reveal him as an expert printer. He is both the first editor to become President and the first printer. One of the greatest of all Americans set type and ran a newspaper, to wit, Benjamin Franklin. But Mr. Harding is, we believe, the first wielder of a composing stick to enter the White House.

What amazed the experts of The Tribune composing room was the skill and speed of Mr. Harding. He tackled one of the hardest jobs of a printer, the make-up of a page. It is one of the items in a printing plant which no mechanical aids can lighten. To cope with the task of taking the odd lengths of type from galleys and arranging them in columns to make a page there is need of all the equipment that a human machine can posses—an accurate eye, for judging space, hands able to work with the speed of a shuttle, the whole complicated knowledge of printing style at finger-tips, plus real editorial judgment. Brain and hand must work as one and at top speed. And there must be no slips—one "stick" of type "pied" can hold back a page and delay an edition, meaning mails missed and the whole complicated chain of events which brings a newspaper to one's breakfast table in a mess.

"President Harding is one of the fastest make-up men I've ever seen," was the opinion of The Tribune's foreman, Mr. Bardsley. The whole composing room force of The Tribune, crowded around the make-up table and watched like so many experts critics for a blunder, ratified the verdict. Which will doubtless surprise a good many Americans who do not know just what being a country editor means.

As a matter of fact, if any other busines involve as varied a training as that of getting out a small town newspaper we don't know what it is. Becoming an expert printer is but one part of a labor that extends all the way from running one's own errands to editorializing about the state of the nation. When Mrs. Harding reached the Tribune mail room she remarked that she felt especially at home there, for that was the part of "The Marion Star" that she had run. That is typical, too. Being a Ben Franklin in America calls in the whole family, just as it brings into play every sort of mental and physical ability of the owner and editor. Is there a better education for the Presidency, we wonder?—New York Tribune.

SNATCHES BOY FROM PATH OF FAST TRAIN

Olean, May 26—Tony Lee, watchman for the Pennsylvania railroad at the Wayne street crossing, risked his life to save a boy about five years old from being ground under the flyer from Buffalo yesterday. The watchman tried to learn the name of the youngster afterwards but the boy was excited and unable to talk, said Mr. Lee, wiggling from the watchman's arms he joined a youngster companion and ran away.

When the flyer whistled on entering the yards here Tony took up his hand "stop' signal and stopped Wayne street traffic at the crossing. Two boys, one about five years and the other about three, playing along the street and approaching the crossing, did not heed Tony's warning signal and paid no attention to the locomotive whistle at the Franklin street crossing, 100 yards away. Dashing away from his companion, the older boy ran onto the track. He seemed doomed until the watchman, tossing away the sign, leaped to the boy and snatched him from the track an instant before the locomotive whizzed by.

MAN DIES; MANY ARE HOME-LESS AFTER FIRE.

Bradford, Pa., May 28.—One man dead from burns and the entire village of Lewis Run was threatened with destruction as the result of a spectacular fire in Standard Oil tanks at Lewis Run, a suburb of this city, last night. The probable loss is estimated at $100,000. C. J. Weaver, 41 years old, engineer, Mars Gasoline Co., is dead. William Johnson, his helper, was burned.

All the available fire apparatus of Bradford and nearby communities fought the stubborn blaze which threatened to ignite oil tanks storing hundreds of thousands of barrels. Officers of the Standard Oil company arrived here from Oil City last night to take charge of the battle with the flames.

The fire started when Weaver threw a switch in one of the plants which is believed to have caused one of the tanks to ignite. He was burned.

Menaced by the rapidly spreading flames, scores of families in the neighborhood were ordered out of their homes. They are homeless today.

IN AND ABOUT THE CITY.

The man who wants his name kept green shouldn't marry a grass widow.

When we speak of an average man we really mean one who is below our own level.

Whether a girl is vivacious or merely silly depends upon whether you like her or not.

There are men who make the mistake of trying to mould public opinion with hot air.

The cynical bachelor observes that love must indeed be blind when a fellow falls in without looking.

No sermon seems too long to the woman who is wearing a new hat to church for the first time.

Most girls think they look cute, but it's mighty hard work when they get up beyond the 150-pound mark.

"Poverty is no crime," quoted the wise guy. "But the usual penalty is imposed just the same" replied the simple soul.

"Beauty is never completely satisfying," says the suburban sage. "The birds that sing are not the ones that are good to eat."

Some men are so constituted that they would rather kick because they are not getting their money's worth than actually get it.

Muggins—That boy of mine never keeps a job long. He's working in a glue factory now.

Huggins—He ought to stick at that.

Wigwag—I contend that every woman should be a help to her husband.

Henpecke—Exactly what I tell my wife when I want her to help with the housework.

CYNICISMS

Marriage is either a duet or a duel.

A man is no greater than his wife's opinion of him.

Some husbands appear to be happy—others disappear to be happy.

In domestic quarrels there's much to be said on both sides, and both sides say it.

It's the woman most wrapped up in herself who wears the most expensive gowns.

They think they were just made for each other until they get each other's measure.

A woman adorns herself that she may be sufficiently adored to be further adorned.—Boston Transcript.

SELDOM SEEN

A poet with a million dollars.

A chorus girl strolling down Broadway in cotton hose.

A smile on the face of a fellow forced to wheel a baby carriage.

A man with a silk plug hat at a prize fight or a six-day race.

OBSERVATIONS

We have observed:

That more people will accept a man's rights than his advice.

That a man cannot become popular unless he is willing to be bored occasionally.

That the fact that life is a grind is what sharpens many a man's wits.

That when a woman doesn't enjoy spending money she needs a tonic.

That it takes a born diplomat to disguise the interest one feels in oneself.—Boston Transcript.

"What's in a Name?"

By MILDRED MARSHALL

Facts about your name; its history; meaning; whence it was derived; significance; your lucky day and lucky jewel

AMY

AMY, signifying beloved, is derived from the Latin "amo," to love. There is an adjective amabilis, meaning lovable, which gave rise to the feminine proper name Amabile, much used in early times, probably although some complimentary allusion to the quality which is fun admirable if sometimes rare feminine possession.

The first Amabile known to history was the Norman heiress of Gloucester who so strongly protested against accepting even a king's son without a name. On English lips, her name became Amabel, which has been handed down practically unchanged in English families. France adopted the name, after placing the stamp of her language upon it, and long honored a Saint Amata or Aimee. She had many namesakes, so there can be little doubt that Norman families are responsible for pretty simple Amy.

England liked the name and adopted that spelling, but France has always clung to Aimee. About the end of the Seventh century, the masculine counterpart was given a religious significance by Saint Aime or Amatus, a hermit of Valais, and later bishop of Sion, who was persecuted by Merovingian kings.

Amicia was evolved by the English from Aimee and served as an affected form of Amy, just as Edythe and Alys are used by ultra-smart young ladies today for Edith and Alice. The most notable instance of the adoption of Amicia was the daughter of the earl of Leicester, who brought her county to the Herre old persecutor, Simon de Montfort, and left it to the warlike earl who imprisoned Henry III. Her sister carried Amicia into the Flemish family of De Roye where straightway it became Amice.

Amy's lucky gem is the carnelian, which gives courage and confidence to its wearer, and preserves her from injury or accident. Singers are especially fortunate in possessing a carnelian since it is said to have great potency in promoting strength and clarity of voice. Friday is Amy's lucky day and 6 her mystic number.

FIRE EXTINGUISHED IN TANKS AT LEWIS RUN.

The gasoline fire which threatened serious damage to the plant of the Mars Gasoline Company at Lewis Run was finally extinguished about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon after burning about 24 hours. The flames were subdued when water was forced into the gasoline tanks from which the motor fuel was flowing into the flaming pump house. Being of a heavier gravity than gasoline, the water flowed into the pump house and checked the blaze which was later totally extinguished by playing streams of water on it.

Although the total damage caused by the blaze has not been estimated it is believed it will amount to at least $20,000. About half of the 75,000 gallons of gasoline in the storage tanks burned. The pump house and the machinery is a total loss, nothing but twisted bits of burnt metal and charred beams remaining. One of the storage tanks also was damaged by the fire.

Many automobiles were lined along the highway skirting the Mars plant Sunday night and yesterday, people being attracted to the fire by reports given out at the scene that the blaze would continue several days.

The body of Clem J. Weaver, plant engineer who died from burns sustained in the fire, will be taken to Oil City today and from there to Knapp, Pa., where funeral services will be held.

William Johnson, assistant to Mr. Weaver, who suffered several burns when the pump house burst into flames, was reported as resting well last night. His complete recovery is expected within a short time.

Officials of the United Natural Gas Company, which controls the Mars plant, were expected here from Oil City Sunday night to take charge of the fire fighting force. Yesterday made for investigation of the blaze. They are C. F. Hall, C. W. Gibson, J. F. Mullin and A. C. Boswell.

MOVING THE NATION'S COMMERCE

ENEMIES of the railroads have asserted that they are decrepit, broken down and unable to function adequately. Nothing could be more untrue.

The railroads of the United States constitute an unrivaled monument to American genius. They are incomparably the finest, the best equipped and most efficiently operated in the world. They are successfully moving today the greatest volume of traffic in their history.

But the need for greater enlarged transportation facilities to care for the constantly expanding commerce of the nation is urgent and immediate. American railroads recognize that need and have organized to meet it.

On the part of the Pennsylvania Railroad System it involves the expenditure in 1923 of approximately $100,000,000 for new facilities—improvements and additions—including the sum of $52,000,000 for new engines and cars alone.

This vast expenditure was decided upon in the face of the present high cost of material and operation because the Pennsylvania Railroad System—in performing a national service—is confident of the co-operation and support of the American people.

DAIRY FACTS

TIMOTHY HAY NOT GOOD FEED

Animal Husbandry Men at New York State College Point Out Superiority of Legumes.

If you want to increase the cost of producing milk, feed timothy hay to your dairy.

This is the way the animal husbandry men at the New York state college of agriculture are pointing out to the farmers of the state the superiority of legume hay over the non-legumes, such as timothy, for feeding.

They tell of an experiment which showed this clearly. Two lots of cows received identical rations aside from the hay feed. The groups were alternately fed either ten pounds of alfalfa hay or ten pounds of timothy hay. The result indicated that the alfalfa ration produced 17 per cent more milk.

For dairy cows, clover and alfalfa have practically the same value. Alfalfa sharpens the appetite and gives greater gains in weight, but excessive feeding without sufficient variety may overstimulate the kidneys.

Legume hays are good substitutes for concentrates in the ration. With all factors equal as to cows, feeds, nutritive ratio, and the like, milk production has been fully sustained in some tests by substituting eight pounds of alfalfa hay for eight pounds of wheat bran. Good soy bean hay can be used in the same way. With wheat bran or other concentrates at $45 a ton and alfalfa and clover at $20, which means in changing rations the saving is apparent.

AGE FOR BREEDING HEIFERS

Safe Rule to Follow Is to Wait Until Animals Are at Least Seventeen Months Old.

It is a recognized method among the best dairymen that breeding heifers to breeding season never makes them as strong, and is apt to lower their production later. Breeding them too young, say at twelve to fourteen months of age, often gives trouble at calving time; they are usually smaller and not so strong as more mature heifers, and seldom have as good records.

Heifers that are well fed at the start may be bred earlier than those which have but little food besides pasture. A safe rule to follow is to wait for breeding until they are at least seventeen months old and later if they are not well grown.

SOY BEANS SUPPLY PROTEIN

Provide Valuable Supplement to Ration of Corn Silage, Alfalfa Hay and Oats.

Soy beans grown on the farm give promise of providing meal direction with a valuable protein supplement which will make it an independent of high-priced protein feeds, say the dairymen of Iowa State college.

Experiments carried on with a number of cows showed that cracked soy beans proved to be worth $60 a ton for the feeding of milk cows when old-process linseed oilmeal was worth $45 per ton, and so they prove to be a valuable supplement to a home-grown ration of corn silage, alfalfa hay, cracked corn and ground oats. In other words, cracked soy beans, when fed with the home-grown ration mentioned, are worth one-third more than oilmeal.

PUREBREDS REPLACE SCRUBS

Nearly 1,000 Inferior Bulls Discarded in Contest Recently Closed in Kansas.

In the Kansas better-bull contest recently closed live stock men and agricultural college officials of the state replaced nearly 1,000 scrub bulls with purebreds. This is a part of an active purebred-sire campaign which the extension service of the state is conducting. A specialist in animal husbandry has been designated leader in the work and is co-operating with the United States Department of Agriculture in "Better sires—better stock" activities.

DEHORN CALVES WHEN YOUNG

Caustic Stick Should Be Kept In Handy Place by All Dairymen—Horn Soon Killed.

Every dairyman should keep a caustic stick handy and dehorn calves while young. When the calf is a day or two old, the horns or "buttons" are small and can be easily taken off. Applying salve around the "button" before rubbing on the caustic will protect the skin, and the tiny horn will soon disappear. One application is usually sufficient.

Butter Made on Farms.

While millions of pounds of butter are made in the large creameries, it is estimated that 60 per cent of all the butter used in the United States is made on farms, and from herds of less than 10 cows.

Successful Dairyman.

When you find a clock, a thermometer, a set of milk scales and a milk-record sheet in daily use in the cow barn you are quite certain to be in the vicinity of a successful dairyman, or of one who will succeed.

DAIRY FACTS

WHY COWS SUCK THEMSELVES

Where Large Number of Dairy Calves Are Raised They Often Acquire Depraved Habit.

One of the most perplexing problems confronting dairymen, or cow owners, is the occasional bad habit developed by cows of sucking themselves. Where a large number of dairy calves are raised on skim milk they quite frequently acquire the habit of sucking their stable mates, and often this habit is continued until maturity.

There seems to be no good explanation why cows should suck themselves, and it is equally true that in the past there has been no satisfactory method of curing or preventing this bad habit. Various types of muzzles have been suggested, certain types of yokes have been tried, sticks have been attached to halters and passed down between the front legs of the cow and attached to a belt with the idea of preventing the cow from getting her head back to the udder. Most of these devices have, however, proven ineffective or inhumane, and sooner or later the cow with this habit finds her way to the butcher shop as the only positive and permanent cure.

Veterinarians have tried an operation which consists of removing a part of the side milk cord of the teat, but this has not been very satisfactory.

We have found a simple device on the farm of the Georgia State College of Agriculture that appears to be 100 per cent effective in curing the habit and it is very inexpensive and simple to use. Take a piece of ordinary pipe, eight inch pipe about six inches in length, put leather in each end like an ordinary bridle bit. Ten or twelve small holes are then bored through the pipe in every direction. This bridle bit is put in a halter, or device similar to a bridle. It has been found best to use a nose band on the bridle so as to hold the bit securely in place.

When sucking, a cow puts her tongue around three sides of the teat and presses it against the roof of her mouth. When she sucks she tends to produce a vacuum. With the hollow bit across the tongue air is admitted from the ends and it is impossible for her to draw milk, since she cannot form the necessary vacuum. After a few trials, the cow learns that she cannot suck and soon stops trying.

The device is equally effective in preventing cows from sucking other members of the herd.

The cow eats and ruminates normally with the hollow bit in her mouth. However, it is impossible for her to drink unless the water is deep enough for her to submerge the ends of the pipes.—Milton P. Jarnagin, Georgia College of Agriculture.

DAIRY COWS SHOW DECREASE

Does Not Seem Likely That Business Will Ever Suffer a Season of Overproduction.

There is little if any danger of overdoing the dairy business. In the United States at present there are fewer dairy cows per capita than there were in 1890 or 1900, and about the same number as there were in 1910. The discoveries of science have stimulated the use of dairy products. Medical advisers are encouraging more use of the product. It does not seem likely that the dairy business will suffer a season of overproduction.

GOOD DAIRYMAN FEEDS WELL

Cows Must Have Abundance of Right Kind of Feed to Give Liberal Flow of Milk.

The good dairyman is a good feeder. He knows that he must supply his cows with an abundance of feed. But he knows, too, that this feed must be of the right kind and balance if the milk flow is to be heavy. Too much roughage with too little concentrates, too small a supply of protein in the form of clover hay, gluten or the like, a scanty supply of silage or of water, and the milk flow is cut down.

GRAIN REQUIRED FOR COWS

Amount, in Addition to Hay and Potatoes, Depends on Amount of Milk Produced.

Cows that are milking heavy or young calves should, of course, have some grain in addition to the hay and potatoes. The amount of grain required for the cows would depend on the amount of milk they are producing, and the amount required by the calves should be regulated so as to keep the calves in a good, thrifty, growing condition.

MILK CONSUMED ON FARMS

Value Nearly Equal to That of Product Sold, According to Estimates of Department.

The value of milk consumed on farms in 1922 was nearly equal to the value of the milk sold, according to estimates of the United States Department of Agriculture. The farm value of milk sold is estimated at $722,000,000 and of milk consumed on farms at $636,000,000.

POETRY

Poetry is any page from a sketch-book of outlines of a doorknob with thumb-tints of dust, blood, dreams.

Poetry is an echo asking a shadow dancer to be a partner.

Poetry is a silver of the moon lost in the belly of a golden frog.

Poetry is a type font design for an alphabet of fun, hate, love, death.

Poetry is a shuffling of boxes of illusions buckled with a strap of facts.

Poetry is the capture of a picture, a song, or a flair, in a deliberate prism of words.

Poetry is a mystic, sensuous metamatics of fire, smokestacks, waffles, pansies, people and purple sunsets.

Poetry is the cipher key to the five mystic wishes packed in a hollow silver bullet fed to a dying fish.

Poetry is a fresh morning spider web telling a story of moonlit hours, of weaving and waiting during a night.

Poetry is an enumeration of birds, bees, babies, butterflies, bugs, bumbinos, babayagus and bipeds, beating their way up bewildering bastions.

Poetry is the arithmetic of the easiest way and the primrose path, mitched up with foam-flanked horses, bloody knuckles and bones, on the hard ways to the stars.—Carl Sandburg in the Atlantic Monthly.

GARDEN PRODUCTS

There are more than 70 varieties of cabbages.

Southern California produces 87 per cent of the world's crop of lima beans.

Cabbages and carrots were unknown until about the middle of the Sixteenth century.

More pounds of potatoes are produced the world over than of any other food crop.

The most nutritious root crop, after the potato, is the beet, which contains 12 per cent sugar.

Pumpkins and squashes are of American origin. Watermelons, muskmelons and cucumbers are of Asiatic origin.

The onion was an object of worship by the Egyptians 2,000 years before the Christian era. It originated in India.

The eggplant, bean, cucumber, cabbage, onion, turnip and watermelon have been cultivated for more than 4,000 years.

Asparagus is a native of Southern Europe, where it grows on the banks of rivers, in marshes and in other places on sandy soil.

Tomatoes, which originated in Chili and Peru, arrived in England about 1550, and was introduced in North America December 2, 1621.

The common bean is a native of South America and was introduced into Europe in the Sixteenth century. More than 170 varieties of the species have been listed.
